

SCOTTISH FARMER

A subscription campaign for Scotland's farming paper, built around a free bottle of Ardbeg 10 Year Old.

PREPARED BY ALAN TODD
BRAND & DESIGN

ALANTODD.CO.UK

01 OVERVIEW

Turning a free dram into new subscribers for The Scottish Farmer.

The Scottish Farmer teamed up with Ardbeg to offer new and renewing subscribers a free bottle of Ardbeg 10 Year Old, worth £39. The work below covers the print advertisement and order form, the online display creative, and the roll-up banner built to promote the offer at events and in-store.

PRINT

Subscription Ad

Full-page print advert and order form, laying out the offer and driving readers to subscribe by post, phone or online.

DIGITAL DISPLAY

Online Display Ad

Digital creative built for web and app placements, carrying the same offer to readers wherever they browse.

EVENT & RETAIL

Roll-Up Banner

Stand banner for events and retail counters, putting the free whisky offer in front of readers in person.

02 PRINT

A full-page case for subscribing

The print advert doubled as an order form — laying out the offer, the savings, and three ways to subscribe, ready to cut out and post.

£694

PACKAGE WORTH UP TO

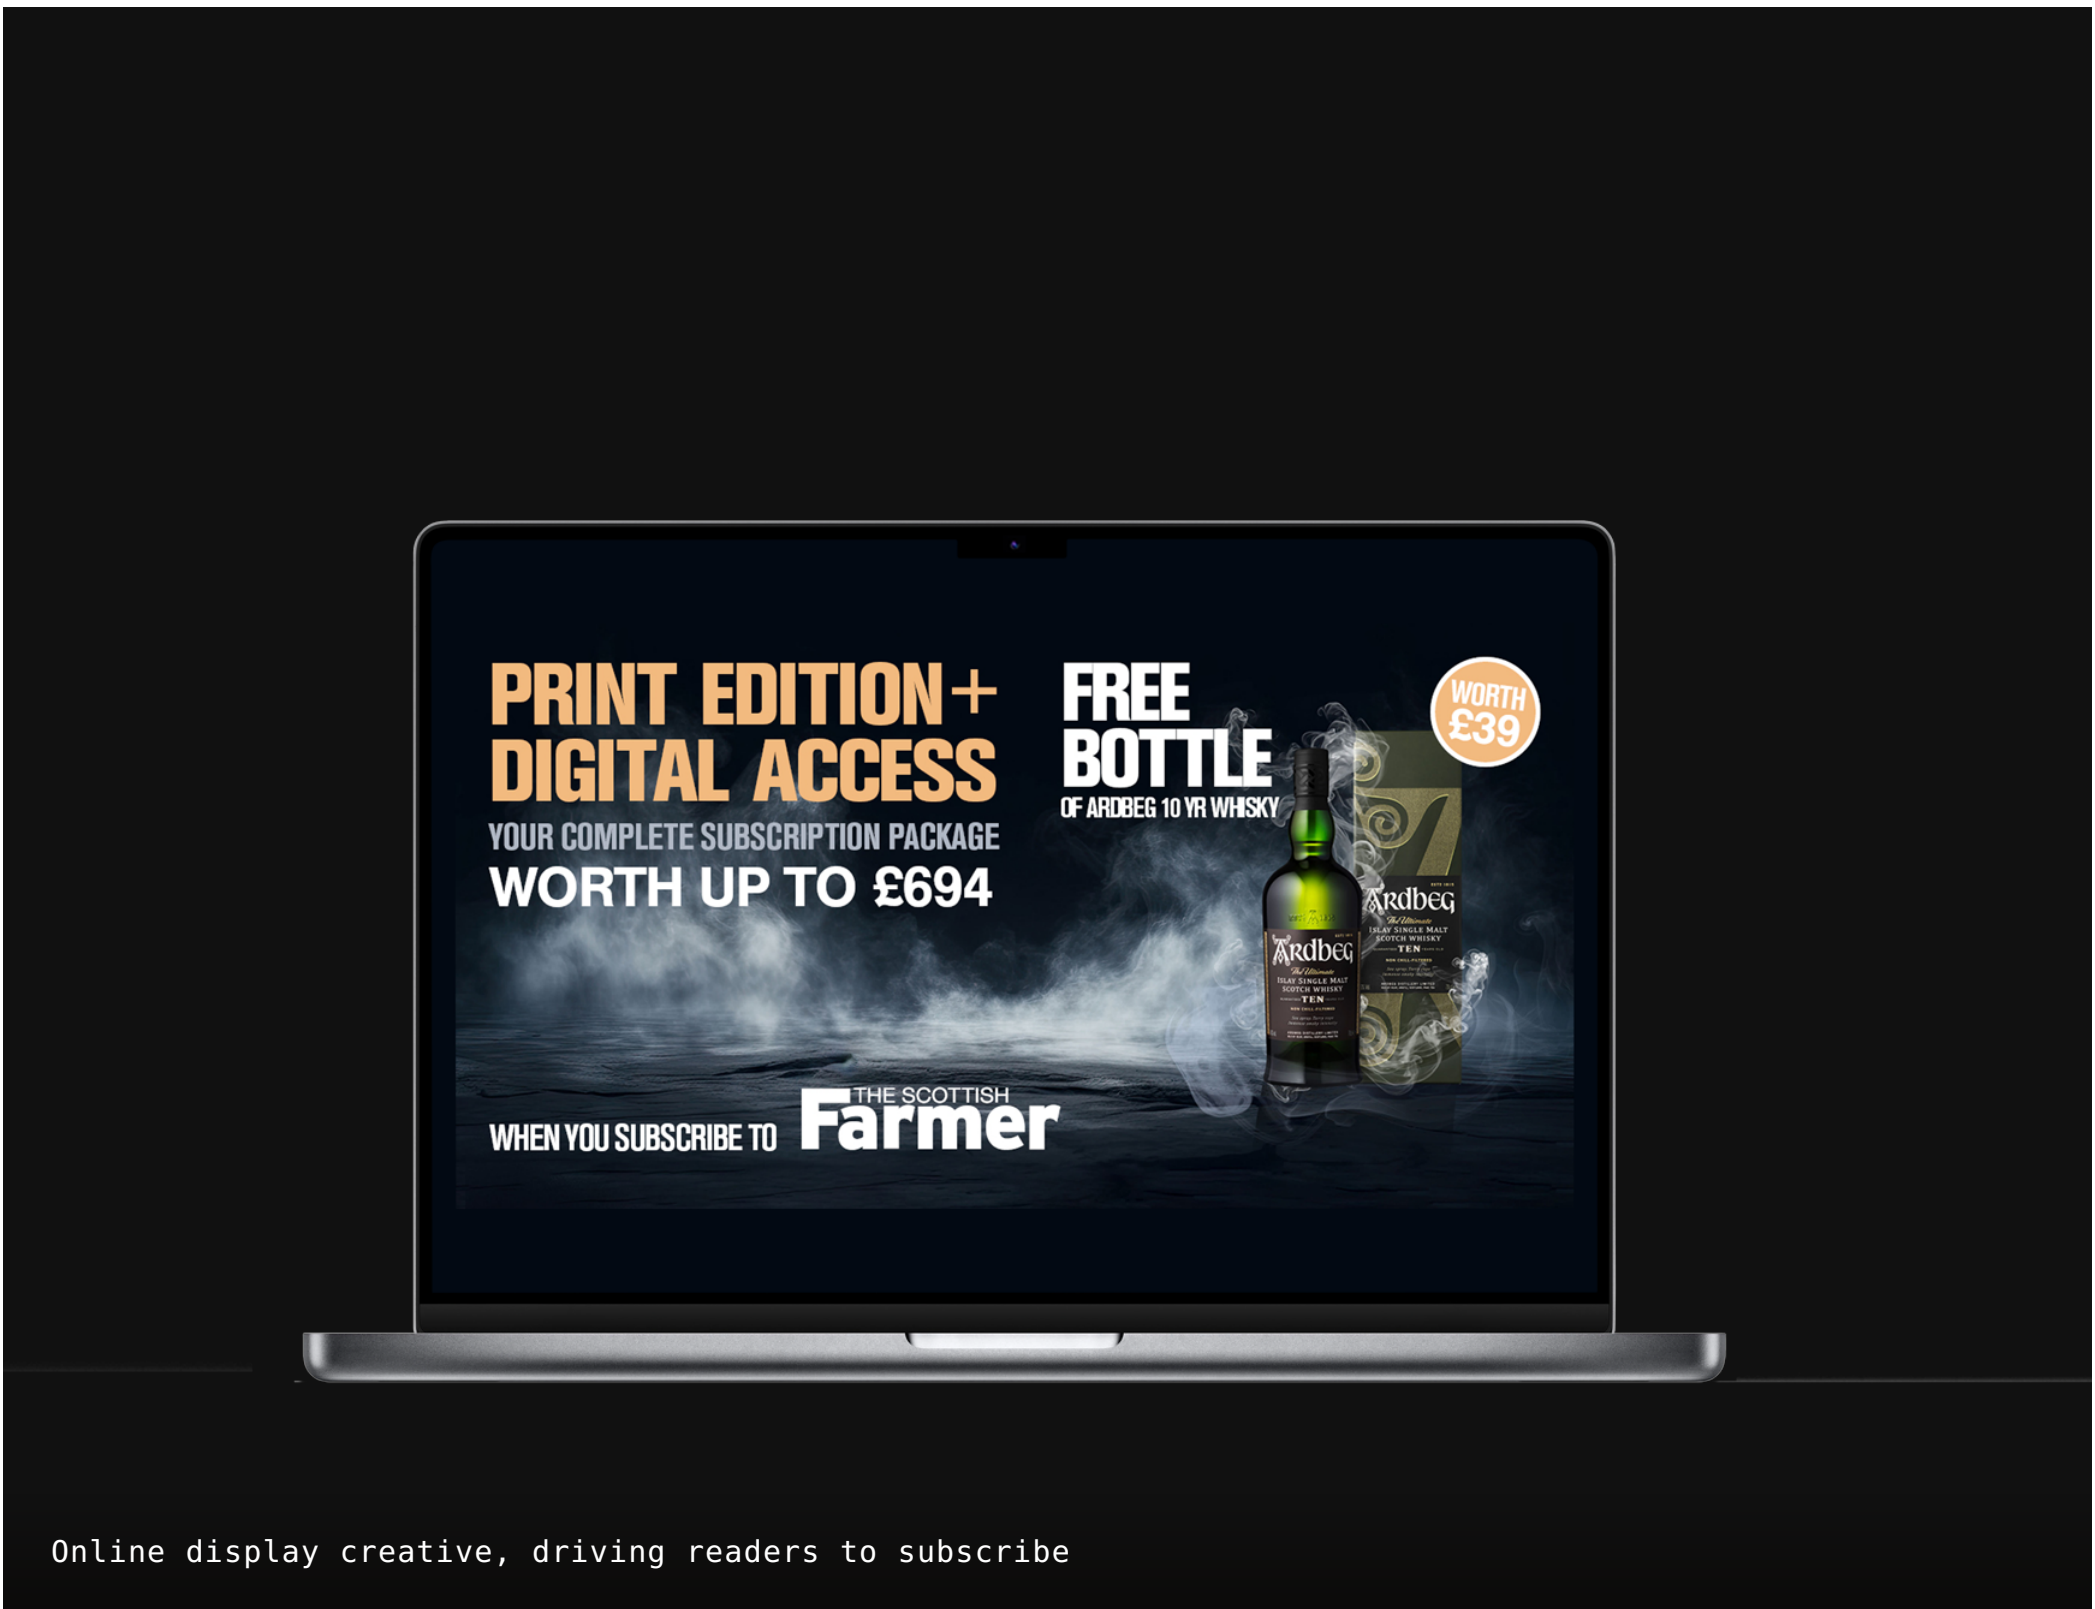

£39

FREE WHISKY WORTH

03 DIGITAL & RETAIL

The offer, everywhere readers look

Online display creative, driving readers to subscribe

THE APPROACH

Print, digital and in-person — the same offer, styled consistently across every touchpoint, from the order form to the exhibition stand.